

GA-HERO

Friday, October 25, 2013

10:30 am — 1:30 pm

Innovating Service Projects Ideas to Execution

Georgia Association of Higher Education Retiree Organizations

Jessica Wilson, Emory's Seniors Mentoring Future Health Care Providers and University System of Georgia's

Marion Fedrick, Vice Chancellor Human Resources

Dorothy Zinsmeister, Associate Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs

Host

Georgia Institute of Technology

Conference Center
Lunch Provided

800 Spring Street NW
Atlanta, GA 30308

Meeting Room
Second Floor
Limited Attendance

We are trying a new format for our meetings. It focuses on topics such as ideas, issues, opportunities, and problems facing retiree organization leaders. Many of our Georgia retiree organizations want to offer even more service activities that benefit our schools and communities. Jessica Wilson will guide us on how they created and executed its mentoring program with the involvement of Emory's Emeritus College.

Join GA-HERO: We who work with retired faculty and staff in Georgia know what a rich resource our retirees are for our colleges and universities, not to mention our wider communities. What we may not realize is how many challenges, joys, and accomplishments we share and how these experiences can help extend the resources of our

Directions: On the downtown connector, Take Exit 250 toward 10th Street/14th Street, Go east at 10th Street NW, Turn right at Spring Street NW one-way south, and Turn right at first light after corner of 5th Street into Parking Entrance Georgia Tech Conference Center

RSVP

Ian Gatland, ian.gatland@physics.gatech.edu, 404-894-5261
Dave Ewert, dewert@gsu.edu, 404-250-0001

10:30 am to 2 pm

Jessica Wilson, Emory Senior Mentoring Program, Keynote Speaker